The workshop was conducted online via Google Meet, adapting to the virtual learning environment necessitated by the ongoing circumstances.

The resource person for the workshop was Mr. Ritwik Balo, Assistant Professor and a faculty member of the English Department at Rani Birla Girls' College. Mr. Balo provided in-depth training on the MLA 7th Edition citation style, emphasizing correct citation methods and strategies for avoiding plagiarism.

Throughout the workshop, participants engaged in practical exercises and discussions, gaining valuable skills in academic writing and research integrity. The online format allowed for interactive sessions where participants could ask questions and receive real-time feedback.

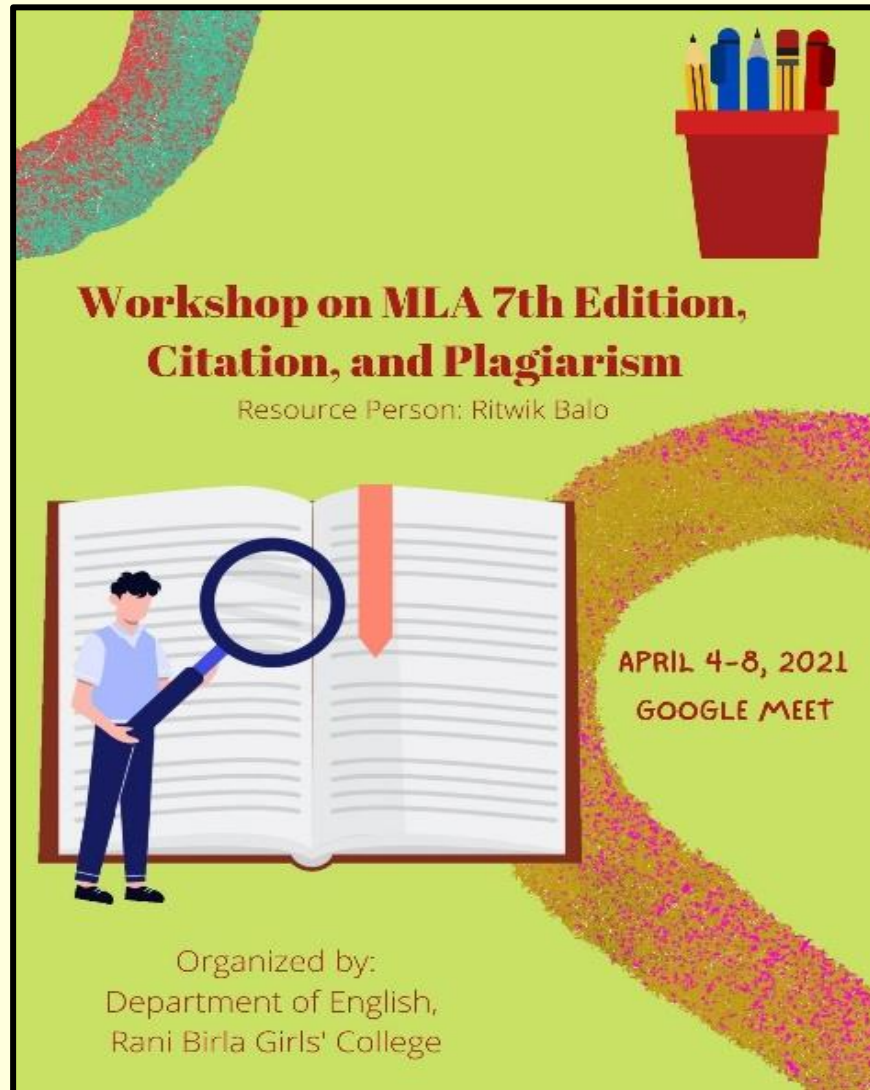

The workshop was well-received, with attendees appreciating the detailed instruction and practical guidance provided. It successfully equipped them with essential tools for academic writing and proper citation practices.

Mud resists – a sustainable process on textiles
Sankar Roy Maulik and Kazi Md. Nasiruddin, Asian Dyer, 17 (5), 2020, pp 49-53. ISSN: 0972-9488

The origin of mud resist is a printing with clay, particularly known as Dabu. The word Dabu came from the Hindi word Daband (to press).

Dabu printing is very labour intensive and associated with several complicated stages of printing and dyeing processes, which gives very unique and beautiful end results.

Ingredients used for Dabu paste are Black clay, Wheat powder, Gum Arabic, Lime and Water.
